* The SEIFA (Socio-Economic Index For Areas) is a ranking system developed by the Australian Bureau of Statistics. It “ranks areas in Australia according to relative socio-economic advantage and disadvantage” based on information gathered from the Census. This data was developed from the “Ranking within State or Territory” > Decile numbers from the 2016 “Postal Area (POA) Index of Relative Socio-economic Advantage and Disadvantage” [1]. The higher the number, the more well-off the area is, based on postcodes.
